CRAWFORDSVILLE, Ind., Feb. 7.

To the Editor of the Eagle:
I have made three visits to my father, Rev. F. M. Symmes, who resides at Derby, Republic Kansas, and each time visited at Wichita. I was at the EAGLE office last summer with Rev. S. L. Hamilton, pastor of Lancoin Street Presbyterian church. The last time I was in Wichita was on January 31, 1889. I am free to say that when I first went to Wichita I was completely astonwent to Wichita I was completely aston-ished to see such a large place and ex-tended improvements. I had heard so much of the "Wichita 'busted' boom" that I expected to find a third-rate place of about 10,009 persons People living here, and never having been to Wichita, all have about the same idea that I had. This is obtained from the items in the papers here. Yours,

CHANGING THE SCHOOL DISTRICTS. Yesterday morning the question

changing the boundaries of the school districts Nos. 11, 17 and 48 was argued before the county superintendent of schools with considerable feeling on both sides. A strong petition was sent in from Bentley, in Eagle township, very generally signed an equally strong remonstrance from school district 17. The case was argued at considerations were raised on both sides.

It is necessary under the law that the school house in each district shall be situ-told the reporter he did not know what he ated in the center of population and each district support its own school. The object of the petitioners is to have a school be done by redistricting. The proposed change was to make a new district, cut ting off a part of 11, 17 and 48 for the new district. This would have the effect of booming Bentley and bringing the majority of the petitioners in closer proximity to a school house. Furthermore Bentley would then have a place in which to hold public meetings, etc., and be the headquarters, so to speak, of that locality. In addition to all this there is a real estate scheme and

MES. ED. ZARTMAN, Financial Secretary. A WORD TO THE WISE.

To the Editor of the Eagle. Many people who can just as well contribute largely to the good work on which the board of trade is engaged seem quite content to look to the board to do all the public work; not only to inaugurate the movement, but to carry it out by means of its organization and members. The board would not only be satisfied, but highly gratified to see their work supplemented gratined to see their work supplemented and improved upon by outside or individ-ual effort, and is always glad to have prac-tical suggestions for the general good made by any one having the good of Wichita at heart. Don't think because you may not belong to the board of trade that Wichita the rest average your heat effort in her bedoes not expect your best effort in her be-half, or that you can see your ideas carried out without your co-operation.

For a week past the postoffice authorities have had reason to suspect that the mails were being used for fraudulent purposes, but not until yesterday could the guilty party be identified. Postoffice Inspector Patton has been in the city since Monday and with the assistance of Deputy Marshal Willis Metcalf they secured their man yesterday during the noon hour. His name is Jerry McCartney alias J. H. some length and a number of important Ribbs. He was arraigned before Commiswas arrested for and that he was only getting Ribbs' mail by request. He said he was a working man but had not been able located at Bentley, which is in the south-west corner of district 17. This can only to get a job at the packing house shortly. He also said that Ribbs had several name and he first knew him as Brown. He had seen him that morning but could not find him again although he had searched the

Once in the postoffice school. Furthermore, district 17 has a he was detained until Metcalf's return, who took him under arrest.

McCartney's plan has been to write to different people telling them that their at the regular price, including reserved relative had died leaving with him a trunk which he understood contained valuable documents. That he had pronised the dead party to forward the trunk to their address but that he had been thrown out of body's satisfaction and judiciously took employment and did not have the means. He of conrse regretted this delay in the fulfillment of his promise but would forward it with the first $5 bill he could get, It would be a hard-hearted relative who would not take the hint and forward $5 to pay the charges.

It is impossible to tell yet how many financial responses he has received or the extent of his operations. It is likely they have not been carried on long, but it was a good scheme while it lasted.

The suspicions of the authorities were first arroused by McCartney always receiving Ribb's mail and once when a m ey order came, McCartney brought Ribb's order for it. When the money orders became frequent the money order clerk nat-urally wanted to see Ribbs and refused to acknowledge his order not knowing his signature. Then in order to get the money McCartney said he was Ribbs himself. At this juncture McCartney thought it prudent to avoid the postoffice and has not shown up around there since Monday.

Amongst the arrests for the week are one case of burglary, two loitering, three petty larceny, six vagrancy, seven drunks, the balance are various offences of little

AN IMPORTANT ARREST.

Yesterday Sheriff Cone made an impotant arrest in the person of Charles Morcealing and disposing of stolen property The sheriff was in search of a saddle which had recently been stolen, and while on the track of it, which he afterwards recovered, he found much other property. It will be remembered that some time ago the pest house was robbed of its contents, and much well grounded apprehension was felt that the bedding, especially, might disseminate disease. Amongst other things the sheriff found about all of this stolen bedding. Morton will be arraigned on Monday in the justices' court to have a preliminary hearing. During the trial it is expected that more stolen property will be located and recovered.

CRAWFORD GRAND. Mr. Geo. H. McDonald will open hi eries of entertainments at the Crawford Grand Monday evening, February 10, with "A Trip to Paris." This will be the first of a series of entertainments of the highest order, and there is reason to believe the house will be packed and the entertain-ment appreciated by the people. He has selected for the opening night "Gay and Brilliant Paris," of which the Chicago Times save-

"Prof. McDonald at the Music hall last night gave a very entertaining description of the architectural and other art beauties of Paris and its environs. The professor's codversational style, his abundance and beauty of descriptive language, his thorough knowledge of the historical and others. ough knowledge of the historical and other data relating to the places to which he cails attention, all make his lecture the ideal of interesting and instructive restrum entertainment. The professor's views with which the lecture is liberally illustrated, are of the finest possible character and the palatial examples of architecture are as perfectly reproduced upon the hugo canvass as they would be in the most delicate engraving. Mr. McDonald comes with testimonials of the highest order and there is reason to believe that this series of entertainments will prove the great feature of the sca-on. The professor has made it a life study and as the Philadelphia Press says:

end that George H. McDonald. While he draws largely upon the ranks of the best class of theater goers, he at the same time has drawn largely from those who do not attend the theater at all. And the fact is doubly gratifying since it goes to prove not only the solid merit in the words of the lectures themselves, but also the steady growth of a taste in the public for something better than mere laugh making.

FREIGHT TRAIN WRECKED.

Yesterday afternoon a freight train wa wrecked on the Missouri Pacific near Eldorado and the passenger due her about 3 p. m. did not arrive until 9 o'clock last night. Of course, according to informa-tion from the railroad boys, the "pile up" amounted to nothing. It was caused by spreading of the rails, and a number of cars were derailed and considerable damage done to property, but no one seriously injured.

A lady relates that one bitterly cold winter day she was burrying toward the railway station, after a day's shopping in the city, intending to take a certain train for her subarban home, when she suddenly remembered a very important purchase she had intended making, and had forgot while in the stores. To return for it would make her miss the train, and of necessity reach her home alarmingly late. She stood on a street corner debating the question of returning, and had no idea she was talking it over to herself, until just as a tall schoolboy turned the corner she thought and said aloud, "Well, now, I believe I

"Well, now, I believe I would," said the young man, in a tone of sympathetic banter, as he passed along.

"It must have seemed very absurd to him," said the lady, in telling the story, "to see me standing on that freezing corner talking so amiably to myself." "That reminds me," said a listener,

"That reminds me," said a listener, in the log of my head to the end of my idea, "of a little incident in my own experience. I was waiting my turn to buy stamps at a postoffice window, when I heard an old gentleman in front of me F.E. Aparen New Einsteel, Conn. murmuring to himself: 'I suppose the folks will say she's too young, but if she likes an old fellow like me'-

"'Why, she cartainly ought to take yon,' said L. I couldn't help it. "He looked around, blushed like a zirl element at the letters he had in his buying stamps, with his ears fairly burning. That was the last I saw of the old gentleman and his little romance."--

The Crown of Prossis. The royal crown of Prussia, which dates from the time of King Frederick I, is lined with velvet, contrary to all heraldic rules. This fact has led to several discrepancies, more especially to matters of art. The painter, Professor Hilde General Ticket and Passenger Agent John | brandt, a well known authority on points banner for a veteran association, strictly adhering to the heraldic rule in drawing the royal crown without a lining. On the sketch being sent to the minister of the interior the official objected to it, insisting upon the Prussian crown being lined, but finally yielded to the professor. It may be mentioned here that the crown of 1701 can no longer be worn nowadays. Is was fitted at the time to be worn over a long wig, and, therefore, is far too large. The Emperor William, on the occasion of his coronation, had a new crown made for himself. When the court jeweler delivered it he requested the king to try it on, but the king declined, saying that he could not possibly consent to "try on" a crown which he was first to place upon his head on so soleran an occasion as a coronation,-

"So it is, and if I could trace is back "d make the linr est his words." "I thought it was odd." "So it is. The only thing I can think of to give rise to such a story is the fact that I met a young man in New York who said he had drawn two valuable books in a lottery. He offered me one of them if I would go along and get it. I went and found they had a lottery draw ing in the same room. I bought $400 worth of tickets and drew a Watertury watch, but I was never lucky in each things. The idea that I could be taken in by such a bunko man!
